I've just finished reading Neil Forsyth's 'Delete this at your Peril: The Bob Servant Emails', a book of email dialogues between the very naughty boy Bob Servant and various would-be email scammers. While most of us delete or report spam emails asking us to help out broke African princes or accept dodgy money laundering jobs, Bob replies, often pushing the conversation in the most surreal directions.

Delete This at Your Own Peril keeps a reader interested because the authors come up with some rather insane background and stories with which they sucker the scam artist who contacted them first. The second adventure involving a Nigerian 419 scam, though not as over the top as the first one, is quite funny and enjoyable as they get the Nigerian interested in their scam.
